

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality)

By James Dashner

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner

Suspense meets sacrifice in the action-packed conclusion to New York Times bestselling author James Dashner's 13th Reality series.

Atticus Higginbottom—aka Tick—has known all along that when the battle for every reality is on the line, his role will be a crucial one. But he never could have imagined how this final challenge would go down. While Tick's friends Paul, Sofia, and Sato work together with the Realitants to fight the newest and biggest threat to the very fabric of all that exists, Tick finds himself alone with the villains responsible for the damage: Mistress Jane and Reginald Chu.

Each character faces unimaginable choices and death-defying odds in this breathless conclusion to a quirky, clever series. Ultimately, it will take a stunning sacrifice to save the day....

 Download The Void of Mist and Thunder \(The 13th Reality\) ...pdf

 Read Online The Void of Mist and Thunder \(The 13th Reality\) ...pdf

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality)

By James Dashner

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner

Suspense meets sacrifice in the action-packed conclusion to New York Times bestselling author James Dashner's 13th Reality series.

Atticus Higginbottom—aka Tick—has known all along that when the battle for every reality is on the line, his role will be a crucial one. But he never could have imagined how this final challenge would go down. While Tick's friends Paul, Sofia, and Sato work together with the Realitants to fight the newest and biggest threat to the very fabric of all that exists, Tick finds himself alone with the villains responsible for the damage: Mistress Jane and Reginald Chu.

Each character faces unimaginable choices and death-defying odds in this breathless conclusion to a quirky, clever series. Ultimately, it will take a stunning sacrifice to save the day....

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner Bibliography

- Sales Rank: #119235 in Books
- Published on: 2013-02-05
- Released on: 2013-02-05
- Original language: English
- Number of items: 1
- Dimensions: 7.63" h x 1.40" w x 5.13" l, .70 pounds
- Binding: Paperback
- 496 pages

 Download The Void of Mist and Thunder \(The 13th Reality\) ...pdf

 Read Online The Void of Mist and Thunder \(The 13th Reality\) ...pdf

Download and Read Free Online The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner

Editorial Review

Review

The Journal of Curious Letters provides an assortment of puzzles and mysteries sure to thrill young readers. -
-Brandon Mull, New York Times bestselling author of Fablehaven

Wonderful...Dashner shares with Rowling a nimble use of fancy, delayed revelation, and charm. --Chicago
Sun-Times

An intriguing series...drawn from an imagination that crosses Salvador Dali with Baums Land of Oz...it all holds together remarkably well, encouraging suspension of disbelief to make way for glorious flights of imagination. --Kirkus Reviews

About the Author

James Dashner was born and raised in a small town in Georgia. His love of books and writing made him dream of being an author someday, and he still can't believe his dream has come true. He is the author of the New York Times bestselling Maze Runner series, the Infinity Ring series, and the 13th Reality series. Visit him online at JamesDashner.com.

Brandon Dorman is the illustrator of Be Glad Your Nose is on Your Face and The Wizard, both by Jack Prelutsky; and The Christmas Sweater by Glenn Beck. He received a degree in fine arts from Brigham Young University—Idaho and lives in Puyallup, Washington, with his family.

Excerpt. © Reprinted by permission. All rights reserved.

Chapter

1

A Gash in the Forest

The forest smelled of things dead, things rotting.

Jacob Gillian paid the stench no mind, walking his merry way along the narrow path that threaded through the tall oaks and pines like a dried-out stream. Of course, the reason he paid it no mind was because he'd lost his sense of smell thirty years ago in an unfortunate spice sniffing contest. His grandson, Chip, had to tell him that the place stunk like a three-week-old dead rat stuck under the pipes.

The two of them had been hiking side by side for well over an hour, knowing full well that something horrible had happened deep within the dark woods. Exactly what had happened was still a mystery, and the reason they were out there. Jacob had heard the awful sound of ripping and shredding and booming. Chip had smelled the nose-wrinkling stench. Those two things together spelled trouble, and by golly, the source behind it needed finding out.

Jacob and his grandson had moved into the boonies after Chip's parents had been killed in a train collision near Louisville. Ever since then, they'd learned to live with little and less, loving the wild freedom and exhilaration of being smack-dab in the middle of nowhere. Their closest neighbor lived a good thirty miles down the poorly maintained state road, and the nearest town was forty miles in the other direction. But that's just how Jacob liked it, and the life had seemed to grow on Chip as well.

One day they'd return to civilization and start learnin' Chip on the ways of society. But for now, there was time. Time to heal, time to grow, time to enjoy. Time to have time.

"I think I see something up there, Grandpa," Chip said, a little too enthusiastically, considering the circumstances that had brought them out into the woods.

"What is it?" Old Jacob couldn't see much better than he could smell.

"There's a bright patch. Seems like it goes all the way up to the sky!"

"On the path or off it?"

Chip grabbed Jacob's hand and started hurrying down the little ribbon of beaten leaves and undergrowth. "Just to the right of it. We're almost there!"

Jacob followed along as careful as he could while still keeping up with Chip's eager steps. Warning bells rang inside his mind, but he did what he'd done since the day he'd stepped out into the humid fields of Korea as a soldier—he ignored them. Curiosity always won out in his book, and courage came as naturally as a nice belch after dinner.

They'd just rounded a bend, skirting past two mammoth pines that looked like brothers, when Chip suddenly pulled up short. Jacob ran right past him, almost yanking his grandson's arm out of its socket when the boy didn't let go. But then Jacob saw what had stopped the kid, and all he could do was stand and stare. He felt Chip's sweaty hand slip out of his own.

Fifty yards ahead of them, a swath of the forest had been wiped from existence and replaced by a brushstroke of . . . something else. Starting deep in the ground and shooting all the way to the sky was a wide gash in reality, a window to another place. Jacob could see part of a beach, the deep blue waters of the ocean beside it, a sun where there shouldn't be a sun. The time was almost noon, and the real ball of fire was directly overhead. It was as if someone had clawed a rip in the reality of this world and replaced it with another.

"What in the great dickens are we lookin' at?" Jacob whispered.

"Grandpa?" was all Chip managed in reply. His voice shook with equal parts confusion and terror.

"I've been from one end of this world to the other," Jacob said, not sure if he was talking to himself or to his grandson. "And I've never seen a thing like that in my life."

"Let's go home."

"Home?" Jacob tore his eyes away from the spectacle and looked down at Chip. "Didn't you hear what I just said? This is a once in a lifetime opportunity! Let's go check her out."

Jacob took Chip's hand once again, and they started marching closer to the impossible vision of another world streaked across their own. They'd come to within twenty feet when a person appeared on the beach, stepping into the picture from the right edge of where reality had been torn apart.

It was a lady, though Jacob could only tell that from the ratty, filthy dress she wore; a hood was pulled up over her head. A red mask, seemingly made out of metal, covered her face. The expression on the mask was one of anger.

She saw them just as they saw her, and she stopped to stare, the features of the mask shifting to create an expression of absolute shock.

Jacob took a step backward before he realized what he was doing.

“Who are you?” the woman asked, her voice raw and scratchy, like it came out of a throat scarred with acid. “Do you know how this happened?”

Jacob’s mouth had turned into a bucket of dust, and he couldn’t remember how his tongue or voice box worked. He tried getting words out, but nothing came except the slightest hint of a croak.

Surprisingly, Chip spoke up. “Lots of bad sounds came from over here, and the whole place is stinky. Me and my grandpa were just trying to see what happened.”

Such bravery from the kid meant Jacob had to speak. He found his voice. “Where you from, miss? Um, if you don’t mind me asking.”

The lady’s mask melted—literally, by the looks of it—into a frown. “I’m from the Thirteenth Reality. Where are you?”

Jacob swallowed a lump the size of his big toe. “Um . . . Kentucky?”

Before the lady could respond, her image and everything around her suddenly spun into a tornado of colors that quickly merged and transformed into a mass of gray. It swirled and swirled, picking up speed and creating a wind that tore at Jacob’s clothing. And then the sound of terrible thunder seemed to come from everywhere at once, shaking the forest and splintering Jacob’s skull with pain.

When the spinning mass of gray mist expanded and took him, he had the strange thought that although he certainly wasn’t a cat, curiosity had killed him all the same.

Users Review

From reader reviews:

Kim Gray:

In this 21st millennium, people become competitive in every way. By being competitive right now, people have do something to make them survives, being in the middle of the crowded place and notice by surrounding. One thing that often many people have underestimated this for a while is reading. Yep, by reading a e-book your ability to survive boost then having chance to remain than other is high. In your case who want to start reading the book, we give you this specific The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) book as starter and daily reading guide. Why, because this book is usually more than just a book.

Elizabeth Ramsey:

Hey guys, do you would like to finds a new book to read? May be the book with the headline The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) suitable to you? The actual book was written by renowned writer in this era. The particular book untitled The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality)is the main of several books which everyone read now. That book was inspired lots of people in the world. When you read this publication you will enter the new age that you ever know ahead of. The author explained their strategy in the simple way, therefore all of people can easily to understand the core of this publication. This book will give you a wide range of information about this world now. So you can see the represented of the world in this particular book.

Deidra Hird:

Reading a publication tends to be new life style with this era globalization. With reading through you can get a lot of information that can give you benefit in your life. Having book everyone in this world can share their idea. Publications can also inspire a lot of people. A lot of author can inspire their own reader with their story or perhaps their experience. Not only the storyplot that share in the ebooks. But also they write about the information about something that you need instance. How to get the good score toefl, or how to teach children, there are many kinds of book which exist now. The authors on earth always try to improve their talent in writing, they also doing some exploration before they write with their book. One of them is this The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality).

Kenneth Armstrong:

With this era which is the greater man or who has ability in doing something more are more special than other. Do you want to become certainly one of it? It is just simple way to have that. What you should do is just spending your time almost no but quite enough to have a look at some books. One of many books in the top checklist in your reading list is The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality). This book and that is qualified as The Hungry Mountains can get you closer in getting precious person. By looking upward and review this e-book you can get many advantages.

Download and Read Online The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner #8AZMYVK53SQ

Read The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner for online ebook

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner Free PDF d0wnl0ad, audio books, books to read, good books to read, cheap books, good books, online books, books online, book reviews epub, read books online, books to read online, online library, greatbooks to read, PDF best books to read, top books to read The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner books to read online.

Online The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner ebook PDF download

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner Doc

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner Mobipocket

The Void of Mist and Thunder (The 13th Reality) By James Dashner EPub